

WESTERLY IGNORES NIGHT LAW

Vehicles Still Running About Minus Safety Lighting—Cars From Many Points Registered—Collisions Due to Carelessness—Toilet Problem at Watch Hill Settled.

The act which requires all vehicles using the highways to be properly lighted at night has been in effect in this state just two weeks and, so far as known, is not being enforced anywhere. It is certain no notice has been taken of the law in Westerly. Chief Brown says there will be enforcement of the law here, but he is unfavorable to hasty action. He believes it will give vehicle owners opportunity to comply with the law, which is now in its infancy, and add that in due time he will do his full duty.

Chief Brown believes a reasonable warning should be given persons who fail to respect the new law, as many have their first intimation of the law through police warning. This was the method adopted when the traffic ordinance became effective and with satisfying success, and it is believed that the vehicle light law can be handled in like manner.

The members of the state board of public roads were in session in the council chamber of the Westerly town hall, Tuesday, for the purpose of granting Rhode Island registration for cars from other states whose owners are spending the summer at Watch Hill and other nearby summer resorts and also for making written examinations of applicants for drivers' licenses. The board was kept busy all through the session and will meet again today to complete their work here.

There were many automobiles lined up in front of the town hall and vicinity and a varied assortment of registration signs attached thereto. There were cars registered in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland, Massachusetts, California, Indiana, Connecticut, Florida, Louisiana and Rhode Island. The car bearing the registration P. of J. 3, caused much speculation as to its significance and, in the many guesses made none was correct. The problem was solved when the chauffeur explained that P. of J. signified Parish of Jefferson, in Louisiana.

Another automobile that has for the past eight years been the cause of comment, by reason of the California registry plate, is that owned by William H. Sawyer, a cottage owner at Weekapaug. Mr. Sawyer is a resident of Pasadena, but spends three months at Weekapaug, three months in Providence and the balance of the year at his California home. This identical car has crossed the continent twelve times, but for the past two years has been in winter storage in Westerly, as Mr. Sawyer has a later model in Pasadena.

The car of 1906 vintage has never been repaired, still is in good presentable appearance, in marked contrast to the cars of more recent construction which annual repainting is almost a necessity. This car was registered in California eight years ago as No. 8833. Up to a recent date the actual number of cars registered in that state was over 128,000 or within a few thousand of the larger and more populous state of New York. Mr. Sawyer says this is perhaps due to the excellent roads in California. He says he can start from his home and travel over 150 miles of the best road that it is possible to build and that he knows of no road in this section, not even a small patch, that can be compared to it.

Attorney Benjamin H. Hewitt of Mystic was on the verge of being arrested Tuesday morning in Westerly for recklessly driving his automobile. He was driving up High street and as he neared the residence of Charles W. Willard there was a heavy wagon loaded with grain just about to go in the same direction. Mr. Hewitt tooted his horn and the driver of the grain team reined his horse to the right. Before the team was well to the right Mr. Hewitt took a chance to pass and without looking ahead before making the attempt to see if the coast was clear. The usual mishap resulted.

Harry Williams, driving the delivery truck of the Hazwell company, was coming down High street and close to the curb on his right, when the truck was struck by the Hewitt machine. The left mud-guard, the left forward spring and axle were bent and the radiator smashed, all indicating that the fault of the mishap was entirely with Hewitt, and the attorney frankly acknowledged he was at fault. The front axle of the Hewitt car was bent and other slight damages resulted. Chief of Police Brown soon appeared and made note of the facts in the case, but made no arrest.

streets and driveways into main thoroughfares, came under collision between an automobile and team, Tuesday morning, in West Broad street. The quick action of the driver of the automobile prevented serious results, but the automobile was damaged by slight contact with the rear of the wagon and a telephone pole. By written rules of the road, due caution should be exercised by all drivers, but the driver when on the main thoroughfares has the right of way over the fellow coming from the side street.

Dr. Malcolm Gunn, of Quonotontaug and Philadelphia, was injured while driving in his automobile from Westerly to his home, when on the Post road. The automobile struck a soft spot in the road, suddenly swerved and upset, the doctor and man who was with him were pinned under the car. Fred Congdon and James Chadwick happened along in an automobile just as the accident happened and rescued the two men. The doctor sustained a severe strain of the left knee and was considerably cut and bruised. He was brought to Westerly and attended by Dr. J. De Vere Barber. His man escaped with slight bruises.

At the recent meeting of the Rhode Island Library Association, held at Westerly, was shown in the development of children's libraries throughout the state. It was voted that the children's librarians be a committee to visit and inspect all such libraries and make report and recommendations at the next meeting of the association. Miss Alice Edith Kennedy, librarian of the children's department of the Westerly public library was assigned to the libraries at Ashaway, Kingston, Carlisle, Narragansett, Saunderstown and Charlestown, and is devoting this week to the work. The Westerly library will be inspected by a librarian from some other library in Rhode Island.

Local Laconics.

The annual outing of the Sunday school of the First Baptist church was held Tuesday at Atlantic City, which is the real pleasure resort of this section.

The Westerly no-license committee is either putting up a stiff bluff or doing conscientious work to swing Westerly back into the no-license column.

Although the man killed on the railroad track near Westerly Thursday morning, is without doubt Otto Walter Niskala (Walter Nelson), of North Abington, Mass., his body was unclaimed by relatives or friends. Burial was at River Bend Monday afternoon.

Charles Moore, who with Mrs. Moore and daughter has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whelan, left Westerly Tuesday for his home in Savannah. Mrs. Moore and daughter will remain for two months. Mr. Moore is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Denis Moore of Westerly.

Action was taken preliminary to the formation of the Pleasant View Improvement society at a meeting Monday evening at the Elias M. Wheelock cottage. A whistle is to be given under the direction of Miss Helen M. Armington of New York, Miss Hattie Tree of South Manchester, Mrs. Robert Lincoln of Williamantic and Fred Lena and William H. Dove of Westerly.

William H. Browning, who has been confined to his home in Narragansett avenue, by a severe illness for the past eight weeks, is making gradual recovery. He has been so ill all the period that friends were not permitted to see him. Arthur M. Weeden called Tuesday afternoon and was admitted to the sick room, being the third person to see Mr. Browning during his illness, aside from members of the family, the doctors and nurse.

With the substantial aid of Harry Wood, who has been of the Shore Dinner house property at Watch Hill, for five years, the joint committee of the Westerly town council and the Watch Hill fire district has been enabled to solve the public toilets problem. With provision that the best of sanitation prevail, Mr. Wood has consented to the erection of two toilet houses in the rear of the property. The buildings will be erected and equipped as quickly as possible.

AUSTRIA HUNGARY, LAND OF STRANGE CONTRAST

No Country in Europe Contains So Many Diverse Nations and Tongues As Austrian Empire, Except Hungary.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, D. C., July 14.—Austria Hungary, toward which the eyes of the world are now turned because of the recent assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the throne of the dual monarchy, and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenberg, is a land of strange contrast, according to a statement issued by the National Geographic Society, at Washington, D. C.

"In spite of its important position, both geographically and politically, but few people realize exactly what they mean when they speak of Austria-Hungary, and to many the words Austria and Hungary seem interchangeable terms for the same country," reads the statement. "What, then, is Austria, what is Hungary, and why are they always bracketed together?"

"The Austrian Empire is a constitutional monarchy formed of three kingdoms, Bohemia, Galicia and Dalmatia, two archduchies, Upper and Lower Austria, and a collection of duchies, countships, and margraves of princely rank; all of them united in the person of the Emperor Francis Joseph. The adjacent and entirely independent Kingdom of Hungary in addition to Hungary proper, includes Croatia, Slavonia and Transylvania, countries formerly independent, but now through intermarriage, conquest and inheritance, all possessions of the Apostolic King of Hungary, who happens by a purely historic chance to be also sovereign of the Empire of Austria. The possession of a unifying link in the person of their common ruler has led to the Ausgleich, or 'Compromise,' whereby the two countries, for mutual convenience, have agreed to join forces in maintaining joint diplomatic and naval and military services. Beyond these the two countries are entirely independent, each having its own constitution, legislature and administration.

"No country in Europe, except only Hungary, contains within its borders so many diverse nations and tongues as the Austrian Empire. Each of the three great ethnic stocks of Europe is represented—the Latin, the German and the Slav, with the latter predominating, as to it belong 15 out of the 26 million people inhabiting the Empire. The Hungarian, or more properly, the Magyar, is perhaps the keenest patriot in Europe, and he manifests his enthusiasm by seeking to impose his language and customs upon his Slavonic fellow-citizens with a persistence that neither opposition nor passive resistance can diminish.

"In these lands, so mixed in nationality and language, there is no less a variety of religion. Roman Catholics preponderate, but Greek Orthodox, Unit Greeks, Lutherans, Calvinists, Jews, and even Armenian Gregorians, are found within their borders. The customs-union between Austria and Hungary has rendered these countries a commercial unit; but roughly speaking, Hungary is the agricultural and pastoral country, while Austria is industrial. Hungary is also the richest country in Europe in mineral deposits, the range of which is singularly wide. Austria is, after Switzerland, the most mountainous region in Europe, more than four-fifths of her vast territory being over 600 feet above sea level. Mountain-climbing is the greatest national game, like baseball in the United States. Old, young, middle-aged, all take a keen interest in it. Even Emperor Francis Joseph is an enthusiastic mountaineer at more than 80 years of age. In his time he has scaled most of the great peaks of his country.

"Vienna, the Imperial City, the capital of Austria, owns her own electric and gas light, street railways and omnibuses, ice manufacturing plant, warehouses, stock yards, brewery, wine cellar, all the pawnshops and even the undertaking establishments. Budapest, the capital of Hungary, formerly two cities, Buda and Pest, is Paris, Vienna and London in one, a combination of the gayeties of the capitals of the world, with a little distinctive Hungarian paprika spice thrown in.

"Even in the remotest corners of Austria-Hungary the strong arm of the law is ever present, the river stretches and the back country being patrolled by a heavily armed contabulary."
